Imagine if we walked... ...on our hands

Our well-protected feet prevent us from coming in contact with deadly bacteria and dangerous materials. Unfortunately, our dogs can't say the same.

Dog's feet, like their ears, are common sources for infection. Spaces created by the combination of hair, nails and skin are bacterial breeding grounds. Pemphigus, an auto-immune disease, enters via open sores on the pads. Parvo, a deadly and highly contagious virus frequently attacking puppies, is caught through direct contact with infected feces.

Walking over abrasive and/or toxic cleaning or garden treatment chemicals, allergens, metal/wood splinters, hot sand, hotter asphalt, ticks, broken glass, burrs, snow, ice, salt, rocks - all challenges humans take in stride but are constantly dangerous problems for dogs. Sore, cut or inflamed paws may prompt the animal to chew its feet, aggravating the irritation and causing pad cracking - opening the door for infection. It is a toxic cycle that can be avoided with high quality paw protection.

OUR STORY

Watson's Senior Pet Products (WSP) grew out of an owner's love for his dog and the need to reduce his dog's suffering from spinal myelopathy and arthritis. The Bottom's Up Leash™ was created for our namesake, Watson, to help him walk and eliminate with dignity - preventing him from sliding further into depression while adding years to his life. WSP was created to not only develop premium and proprietary product-solutions to care for the immediate concerns of disabled and aging pets, but also to educate pet owners on how to be proactive in preventing crippling disease and prolonging their pets life. Pet owners have the unique ability to make a significant impact on their precious pet's life expectancy. WSP's mandate is to promote education and a supportive community to equip owners in their care for their four-legged friends.
